GRESHAM DELIVERS ON SAFETY

Fire and Police Levy

SPRING 2025

alfway through their eight-week training academy, Gresham's new firefighter/paramedic recruits – funded by the Fire and Police Levy – faced a freezing east wind and the long ladder drill.

"It's a tough challenge," said Lt. Mike Snodgrass, Lateral Fire Academy instructor.

During the February drill, recruits had to cover all four sides of the training tower, throwing ladders up before climbing a fire truck's aerial ladder to the roof – all in five minutes.

Despite the harsh weather, they embraced the challenge as a team.

"Fires are all winter; emergencies are all winter," said Recruit Andrew Barnhart. "Our role is to be prepared for whatever happens, whenever it happens."

A historic recruitment and fire academy

This successful recruitment of new firefighter/paramedics marks a significant milestone for Gresham. Seven out of the nine firefighter positions funded by the levy have been filled. Plus, it's the department's first

"lateral academy," meaning it's the first time seasoned firefighters coming from other areas have been hired – and skilltested – as a group.

Meeting community needs

"Everyone has a great, all-in attitude," Lt. Snodgrass said.

Expectations are high for the fire recruits to be fast and competent at their jobs, Lt. Snodgrass added, making Gresham a safer, stronger community for everyone, with faster emergency response times when they are needed.

"That's my biggest motivator – to do as much good as I can," said Recruit Alex Moro. "Most people get in this with a genuine passion to try to help out their community."

Thanks to the Fire and Police Levy, even more firefighters will be joining the team after another fire academy planned for late spring.

Building safer neighborhoods, faster emergency responses

ast May, for the first time in over 30 years, voters came together to pass the Fire and Police Levy.

Today, Gresham is turning this investment into real progress – building safer neighborhoods, faster emergency responses, and a stronger community foundation.

Passing the Fire and Police Levy was long overdue: Gresham had too few firefighters and police officers for a city our size, making it hard to effectively respond to emergencies and maintain public safety. Gresham Police Department Regularly hiring new officers

• New recruitment programs and events are drawing a significant increase in applicants.

• Focused missions to address retail theft, vehicle theft, and traffic safety are targeting areas of concern for the community.

• A school liaison officer is working closely with school districts to address safety concerns and share information, supporting a safe learning environment for students.

Boosting safety and response times

• A second fire rescue vehicle is now staffed, the first new 911 unit in over 30 years, handling medical and other calls with greater speed and efficiency than an engine. Sixty-five percent of Gresham Fire's calls are medical emergencies.

• School safety inspections resume this spring, keeping our schools and families safer.

• Firefighter hiring and training is underway (see All Fired Up cover story) to meet the community's safety needs.

Branching out for a greener future

he City is expanding its efforts to protect and plant more trees by updating its tree policies.

Thank you to everyone who has shared your thoughts with us – your feedback helped shape the community vision for the future of Gresham's trees.

We have shared this vision and goals for trees with the Urban Forestry Subcommittee, Planning Commission, and City Council. Based on your input and their direction, the updates to Gresham's tree policies will include:

· Setting goals to increase tree canopy cover across the city and in neighborhoods.

• Creating rules to protect many existing trees, especially large, mature ones, while still allowing for growth and development.

• Requiring replacement trees in key areas when tree removal is necessary, particularly in places that lack enough trees to meet the community's tree canopy goals.

• Establishing a tiered system to enforce these updated rules, with smaller penalties for minor violations and larger consequences for more serious ones. The project team is now working to turn your ideas into meaningful tree policies for the future.

Cascade Water Treatment Plant takes shape

The City and Rockwood Water People's Utility District (RWPUD) are working together to build a safe, reliable and independent water system for our community.

As part of this effort, we're investing in a state-of-the-art water treatment plant. Construction of this new facility began in 2024.

"We're pleased with the progress we're making on our groundwater treatment facility," said Mike Whiteley, Project Manager, Environmental Services. "Our partnership is developing a foundation that will benefit Gresham and Rockwood customers for years to come."

Treatment plant by the numbers

- Wells supplying water: 5
- Water treatment capacity: 25 million gallons per day, with room to grow
- Cost to build treatment plant:
- $18 million
- Total filters: 120
- Cost of filters: $4.45 million
- Federal funding awarded toward filters: $3 million
- Building size: 7,616 square feet
- Height: 2 stories

The Cascade Groundwater Alliance (CGA) is on track to complete the groundwater system expansion by 2026. The CGA is a partnership between the City and RWPUD.

When the system comes online next year, it will produce 25 million gallons of clean, refreshing water every day.

By partnering with RWPUD, we have a rare opportunity to build and operate our own high-quality groundwater system. This collaboration will help keep water rates stable while ensuring excellent service for years to come.

Gresham on the go: Transportation System Plan e're getting closer to the finish line for Gresham's Transportation System Plan update.

We've talked to the community for the last nine months on how transportation can address climate change, equity, safety, and new mobility options, like shared scooters and shared bikes.

Later this spring, we'll ask for the community's input on the draft Transportation System Plan update. You can sign up for project updates to be notified.

Transportation System Plan update goals for the future

• Increase accessibility and inclusion within transportation.

• Lower the impact transportation has on the climate and increase eco-friendly options.

• Focus on safety by reviewing what we do now and how it can improve.

• Be ready for new technologies like bike sharing, electric scooters, or automated vehicles.

New Urban Flood Safety and Water Quality District

An Urban Flood Safety District was created by the Oregon State Legislature in 2019 to improve the Columbia River levee system through Multnomah County and bring it up to modern safety standards.

This district started charging a Flood Safety Benefit Fee directly to Multnomah County cities in 2024, and Gresham's share is approximately $900,000 per year.

The City will collect this charge for the district through the utility bill as the Flood Safety District Pass-Thru Fee.

Beginning in May, the City will begin charging all developed properties $2 per month per 2,500 square feet of impervious surface (rooftops, driveways, parking lots, etc.)

For more information about the district and its purpose, visit the Urban Flood Safety and Water Quality District at urbanfloodsafetyor.gov or call 503-281-5675.

Household sharps | Compact fluorescent bulbs | Paper shredding 9 a.m.- noon, Gresham City Hall parking lot, 1333 NW Eastman Parkway

Why is safe disposal of household sharps important?

Sharps are medical instruments. Proper sharps disposal is necessary to prevent injury, the spread of infection and environmental pollution.

HOUSEHOLD SHARPS ACCEPTED

- Syringes
- Lancets
- Needles
- Needle connectors
- Infusion sets
- Epi-pens

Prepare your donations

Free sharps containers will be available at the event while supplies last. Please make sure all sharps are disposed of in a designated sharps container or a securely sealed alternative, such as a thick plastic laundry bottle.

Business disposal options Free waste disposal is not available to businesses. Businesses looking for disposal options should contact Gresham Sanitary Service at 503-665-2424.

COMPACT FLUORESCENTS (CFLS) ACCEPTED NO tubes or broken bulbs

• Spiral shaped bulbs only

Why is safe disposal of CFLs important? CFLs have mercury in them, which requires special handling for disposal and recycling. That's why we don't want them in the regular garbage.

Prepare your donations

Please package your CFL bulbs carefully to prevent breakage. If the glass breaks, the mercury inside the bulb may be released as vapor.

We are not accepting LEDs or long fluorescent tube lights.

Business disposal options Call Metro at 503-234-3000.

PAPER SHREDDING MATERIALS ACCEPTED Two brown grocery bags per household

- Credit card and bank
- statements
- Paycheck stubs
- Pre-approved credit card offers
- Bills and utility statements
- Investment records
- Employment records
- Loan documents · Paper with personal data

What documents should you shred and why?

Shred documents that contain sensitive personal, financial or confidential information to protect yourself from identity theft, fraud and unauthorized access.

What to do with bulky waste

Have an old piece of furniture you don't need anymore? You have options!

• Donate or recycle it. If it's in good condition, donate to local organizations that can get the items back into circulation in the community. Call Metro Recycling, 503-234-3000.

• Have your hauler pick it up. If it's destined for the trash, call your hauler to schedule a pickup from your curb. A list of haulers and rates is on our website: GreshamOregon.gov/Haulers-and-Rates.

 Apartments/multifamily complexes. Call your property manager first for options.

• Haul it yourself. Call Metro for information on transfer station locations, 503-234-3000. New! Bye Bye Mattress accepts any mattress or box spring, regardless of condition, for free. Learn more at ByeByeMatress.com/ Oregon.

• Sell or give it away. List items on reuse sites such as craigslist.org or Facebook Marketplace. City Hall's "Safe Exchange Zone" parking spaces are a safe way to make private property transactions. Located in our parking lot in view of the Police Department, it is clearly marked and under surveillance.

Prevent illegal dumping

If you offer items for "free" to the community, don't abandon unwanted items at street corners - this is considered illegal dumping.

Report dumped garbage

If you see an illegal dumpsite on public property such as a street or sidewalk, call Metro's Regional Illegal Dumping (RID) Patrol at 503-234-3000 or report it online at Oregonmetro.gov/ridpatrol.

If you see items dumped on private property or a vacant lot, call the City's Code Compliance at 503-618-2248 or report it online at GreshamOregon.gov/ My-Gresham and Code will notify the property owner.

Borrow tools for free! Rockwood Common Tool Library

Now this is handy! The Rockwood Common Tool Library is making home improvement, gardening and construction projects more accessible by offering free tool lending to the community.

Serving East County residents, the library provides a wide range of tools for repairs, renovations and maintenance.

The Rockwood Tool Library is normally open every Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at The Rockwood Center, 17805 SE Stark St. Community members can borrow tools and return them the following week.

Please note: The tool library will not be open on Saturday, April 26, during the special donation event at Gresham City Hall.

Beyond lending tools, the organization promotes skill-sharing through workshops and volunteer opportunities. Volunteers can assist with tool repair, fundraising, translation, and teaching hands-on skills.

Residents interested in borrowing tools or getting involved can sign up online or visit the tool truck during open hours. Learn more and participate at RockwoodCommon.org.

> Can't make it? Donate during lending hours at the Rockwood Center or drop off tools at the Rockwood Market Hall.

Food for thought...

Did you know? The production of food is a big contributor to greenhouse gas emissions. Preventing food waste is a great way to reduce your environmental impact.

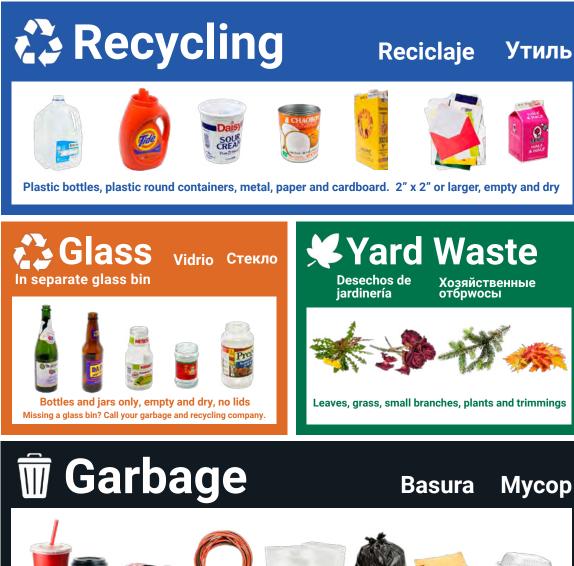

Households waste more food than any other sector of the food system. This wasted food costs the average family over $1,600 every year, in addition to the natural resources, like water, habitat, energy, and labor used to grow the food.

For tips to prevent food waste, visit EatSmartWasteLess.com.

Find more recycling resources at GreshamOregon.gov/Recycling

All garbage, including plastic bags, takeout and to-go containers, lids and packaging.

Why recycle? Recycling is a way of life for many in Gresham because it saves natural resources, reduces pollution, and creates jobs. Its main purpose is to limit the materials taken from our Earth, helping to protect the environment and keep our community clean.

Behind the Scenes With Gresham Police

A Police and Community Together event

Kick off spring with "All About Investigations," a workshop that offers you an inside look at how Gresham Police detectives investigate cases and solve crimes.

Wednesday, April 16

6 p.m. Rockwood Public Safety Facility 675 NE 181st Ave.

Registration is not required, but it helps us plan for refreshments.

Register and stay connected on future workshops at EngageGresham.org/ PACT. Questions? Call 503-618-3202

Repair Cafe and Summer Clothing Swap

Get it fixed for free by volunteers Saturday, June 7, 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Check in repair items by noon

The Rockwood Center, 17805 SE Stark St.

Bring your broken items to be repaired for free. Skilled volunteers can fix small appliances (no microwaves or TVs), clothing or fabric items, jewelry (no fine jewelry) and more. Free sock darning. Plus, choose from gently used, clean summer clothes and/or bring some to share with others.

Are you handy? Volunteers wanted. A
